NFL great Jerry Rice hugs Linda Zipkin at the DeBartolo Family Foundation dinner party Jan. 18. She hasn't stopped smiling since.

After five years hosting the DeBartolo Family Foundation's All Star Charity Gala, Eddie and Candy DeBartolo put the brassy bash on ice this year. After all, daughter Lisa and hubby, Don Miggs, have been touring with his band, Miggs. Daughter Nikki launched her Nicole Khristine jewelry line. Still, the family managed to invite more than 150 foundation fans to pay $1,000 each to attend a party at their Italian villa in Avila on Jan. 18. One big draw was charming NFL hero Jerry Rice, who confessed Dancing with the Stars was much harder than playing football.

Also pleased to be DeBartolo celebrity guests: Bucs Derrick Brooks, Chris Simms, Ronde Barber, Mike Alstott, and former Bucs LeeRoy Selmon, Warrick Dunn, Brad Culpepper and Chidi Ahanotu. Coach Jon and Cindy Gruden, Debbie and Wade Boggs; musician Gary Puckett and actor Seymour Cassell dropped by.

Sun Trust sponsored the dinner, which raised about $200,000. Selling $40 prize raffles contributed to that. Big winner: Realtor Toni Everett will fly first-class to the DeBartolos' Candy Bar Ranch in Kalispell, Mont., for a Fourth of July barbecue with Maroon 5 performing.
